Tuesday April 1, 2:46 pm ET

HOUSTON, TX--(MARKET WIRE)--Apr 1, 2008 -- Bederra Corporation (Other OTC:BDRR.PK - News), a medical imaging and diagnostic Company, is pleased to announce it has retained Numarket Solutions, Inc. to provide investor relations strategy support and corporate communication services.

Chad C. Sykes, Numarket Solutions CEO, stated, "After visiting one of Bederra Corporation's subsidiaries, Lumar Imaging located in Houston, I immediately saw a strong company with a lot of potential. The market has been very unkind in its valuation of the company. The imaging equipment on site alone was worth far more than the current market cap. Bederra is a great example of how good companies can go unnoticed. I will be working closely with management to formulate a program to increase investor awareness and help communicate more effectively with current shareholders and future investors."

The company would like to further announce it will begin to take proactive measures to combat any market collusion involving its common stock. The company is aware it has recently appeared on the Regulation SHO Threshold list for several consecutive days. The company has requested copies of DTC records and a NOBO list to determine any discrepancies.

Graham Williams, Bederra Corporation CEO, stated, "We are glad to have Numarket Solutions working with us to bring a new level of communication to shareholders about our business plan and ongoing operations. We will be making several exciting announcements as well as releasing our financials in the near future. We are also looking into the recent possible shorting of our common stock and will take the necessary steps to correct the problem."
